The Levoir™ Bath Collection by Brizo® Delivers Cunning Sophistication and Customizable Silhouettes

New bath suite evokes the glamour of mid-century style and classic British automotive design

INDIANAPOLIS – Paying homage to the slender proportions and graceful forms seen in classic British automobile design, the Levoir™ (pronounced le-VWAR) Bath Collection by Brizo® distills the true essence of timeless sophistication. The name “Levoir” was inspired by the sleekness of style and architecture of the 1960s, deriving from the word “sight” in French, specifically meaning “to see him.”

Infused with a sense of history, the stunning contours, rounded geometries and slender forms seen throughout the collection eliminate unnecessary weight and mass, a signature characteristic of mid-century style. The lavish details of the various lavatory configurations, widespread spout heights and Lever and Cross Handle options deliver simple, yet elegant, silhouettes that create streamlined harmony and unparalleled luxury customizable for any space.

“This collection feels at home in the modern world, yet it carries a sense of history,” said Celine Garland, Brizo products lead industrial designer. “I selected each component to convey timeless sophistication. From the curves of the chamfered edges to the intersecting planes of the cross handle, the lines form a simple, yet elegant silhouette. Finishing details like the Black Crystal on the lever handles add a sense of je ne sais quoi, the little extra touch that distinguishes true luxury.”
